Vitro Hosts First In Person Fellows Class Session Since Last Year

March was our first in-person class day since last year! After touring host site, Vitro Architectural Glass Carlisle, the class learned about "Conflict Resolution Through Crucial Conversations" from LC Alum Angella Dagenhart, and reviewed how to approach conflict, develop mutual understanding and de-escalate tensions. They also gained an understanding of nonprofit finance in regards to required IRS and state regulations as well as the fundamentals of financial statements from Greg Hall with SEK, CPAs & Advisors. We appreciate the host, Vitro Architectural Glass, and thank them for allowing us to meet at their facility and treating everyone to lunch!

Junior Leadership Program Students Seek First To Understand

The class this month learned that servant leadership is a cornerstone to great leadership. As leaders we must give of ourselves before we can expect others to follow. Habit #5 Seek first to understand then be understood reinforces the idea that our opinion is not the only opinion. It also encourages listening as a key component in developing relationships & trust. Thank you to John Anthony who talked to the students about how to understand their finances and to all those who spoke on the community service roundtable: Joel Giovannetti with New Hope Ministries, Jessica Shirley with the PA Chamber of Commerce, and Cheryl Hornung with Caitlin's Smiles.
