FELLOWS LEARNED HOW TO CONNECT AUTHENTICITY & DIVERSITY WITH LEADERSHIP

On November 18th, our class of Fellows met for their November session on Authenticity & Diversity. They learned from our director, Nicole, how to lead with authenticity and how it affects leadership. We had three wonderful presenters for this class: Brenda Bretz from Dickinson College presented on Privilege, Dennette Moul also from Dickinson College presented on Generational Understanding, and Dr. Ivy R. Buchan owner of Helix Strategies, LLC finished up her presentation on Nonprofit Board Governance. The ongoing influence of ethnicity, race, religion, socio-economic as well as gender/sexual orientation, and age diversity is an increased priority for effective leadership. The fellows also worked in their Community Engagement groups to continue their project work to finish out the day.

JLC CLASS LEARNS ABOUT COMMUNICATION

On November 3rd the JLC Class met to go over their session on Communication. They worked to understand how important communication is regarding leadership. Including establishing personal values and a personal mission statement. The group was welcomed by Robb Keith with Members 1st Federal Credit Union and Jeannette Magaro and Jodi Major presented Habit 2: "Begin With the End in Mind." They then were able to participate in the Passenger Station Museum and Walking Tour with Steve Zimmerman. The next presentation was by Kristel Zaring and MaryAnne Reynolds with Gift CPA's about "Networking on LinkedIn." Bob Buhrig of Buhrig Funeral Home helped the students craft their Vision Statements and finally the students wrapped up their day with Ah Ha's & their evaluations of the session. Thank you to our session sponsor Harrisburg University and our host sponsor Buhrig Funeral Home & Crematory.

Volunteer opportunities are on the Marketing & Events Committee, Women in Philanthropy Committee, and Fund for Women & Girls Grantmaking Committee. To apply, contact philanthropy@tfec.org.
